According to the terms of the Flocken grant, scholarship aid, up to full tuition, will be awarded to outstanding boys in grades 9 through 12 on the basis of sound moral character, academic aptitude, distinguished academic achievement, financial need, and the ability to contribute to the school in other than purely academic areas.

Wilbraham Academy is located on a 350-acre campus near Springfield. Its faculty numbers 40 and its student body approximately 300. It offers an extensive college prep. curriculum, including advanced placement courses in English, math, American and European history, chemistry, physics, biology, and languages as well as courses in art, music, psychology, philosophy, and creative writing.

AGAWAM HIGH MUSIC REUNION

Alumni of Ag. H.S. music organizations are asked to "dig-out" their instruments and "clear their throats" for a musical reunion eve. on Sat. Dec. 21.

Instead of concerts by present music groups, the reunion program will ask former members of band and chorus to sit in with the present groups in making some music for a rehearsal hour that will include some of the old favorites of the singing and instrumental groups. The session is being called on "open" rehearsal in the sense that spectators will be welcome to attend; however graduate musicians are urged to take an active part in the festivities.

Following the rehearsal hour, chorus and band will get together to view some of the highlights of past musicals including some live presentations by stars of the most recent ones: Oklahoma and South Pacific.

A social hour for grads will close the eve. with refreshments put on by present members of the band and chorale.

The BOUNTY of the LAND

The bounty of the land was the first gift the Pilgrims gave thanks for on that first Thanksgiving day. A successful harvest meant rejoicing and hope -- in spite of the terrors and tragedies that had faced them in the New World.

At Thanksgiving modern Americans also give thanks for the bounty of the land: not just for the harvest but also for the mineral wealth on which our modern industrial society is built and the natural beauty which inspires us.

The Pilgrims' problems were those of the physical world, but our terrors and tragedies are those that lurk in the mind of man: war, social injustice, racial strife, despair, and the accompanying question of whether man will have sufficient wisdom to solve his problems instead of destroying himself.

Not the least of the terrors that lurk in the mind of man is man's power to destroy the natural world which gives him life. Will man have the wisdom to stop poisoning and polluting air, land, and water before he destroys himself? Will man learn to accept responsibility for protecting the wealth and beauty of nature?

When man was first told he should "have dominion over the fish of the sea, and over the fowl of the air, and over every living thing that moveth upon the earth", he couldn't believe it. The earth was so big and man was so small in those days. Now astronauts orbit the earth and reach for the moon -- and it is too obvious that man has such dominion over the earth that he can poison it until it is unfit for man or for the other creatures that share life with us. We have already driven some of the more fragile living things to extinction.

"We need to be wise in so many ways." Looking at the monsters that dwell in the human heart and the evidence of man's inhumanity to man, who can dare to believe we can gain wisdom enough, soon enough, to prevent the human race from committing suicide in any one of the numerous imaginative methods that have been invented in the last generation?

I guess it takes faith...enough faith to have hope, and enough hope to have love, and enough love to spend our energies remodeling our small section of the world "closer to the heart's desire."

NIH RESEARCH FOR HEALTH

A REPORT FROM THE NATIONAL INSTITUTES OF HEALTH
BETHESDA, MARYLAND

Cancer and Heredity

What causes cancer? This question represents one of the basic problems confronting scientists today. Many studies of environmental factors have been made. It has been shown that viruses can cause cancer in laboratory animals and, therefore, probably sometimes in man. Exposure to certain chemicals and radiation (such as too much sunlight) can result in various forms of cancer. In addition to these and other environmental agents, scientists are studying the role of heredity in cancer.

Specially bred laboratory mice have been used for many years to investigate whether a tendency to get cancer can be passed on from parent to offspring. These studies show that not just one, but many genetic factors are responsible for the tendency of the animals to develop specific types of cancer. For example, several different strains of mice that seldom develop breast cancer were exposed to a virus known to cause breast cancer in mice. The descendants of some of the strains developed breast cancer much more frequently than the original animals. Subsequent generations of other strains, however, developed breast cancer less and less frequently as the virus disappeared from their blood. Thus, in animals, hereditary factors may influence how the body will react to a cancer-producing chemical or virus and how the cancer will progress in the body.

When human populations were studied, most of the common forms of cancer did not seem to be passed on within families. Yet, some special studies did show that, to a very small extent, cancer of the breast, rectum, and lung strike in certain families more than others. However, since families share the same environment, scientists have not concluded that a hereditary factor is actually responsible for this excessive incidence of cancer.

Some other forms of cancer and precancerous conditions in man are decidedly influenced by heredity. For example, retinoblastoma, which causes blindness and death in children, can be inherited. Fair skin abnormally sensitive to ultraviolet radiation, and multiple polyps of the colon-rectum are inherited characteristics that predispose to the development of cancer.

On the basis of current evidence, it cannot be said that cancer is never inherited. For most forms of cancer it is better to say that the relative of a cancer patient usually runs no greater risk of developing the disease than anyone else. On the other hand, adult daughters and sisters of women with breast cancer, and the adult children of a parent with rectal cancer should be aware of their increased tendency to develop these cancers. They should be sure to have thorough and frequent medical examinations so that any indications of cancer can be detected very early.

Turkey Planned-overs

by Betty Crocker

Think big when you buy your bird this year. Figure 1/2 to 3/4 pound ready-to-cook weight per serving plus a generous amount for turkey encores. Now think of the delicious possibilities. Chef's Salad with white turkey meat in julienne strips. Turkey a la King ladled over golden waffles. Grilled Reuben Sandwiches on delicatessen rye. Or combine feast day turkey, vegetables and cranberry sauce all in one for the tasty casserole below. It's a creamed dish topped with tempting, colorful cranberry biscuits. Still more cranberries? Good. Serve the Cranberry Cube Salad, too. Some folks say Thanksgiving foods never tasted so good.

CRANBERRY WHIRLS OVER TURKEY IN CASSEROLE

- 2 cans (10 1/2 ounces each) cream of celery soup
- 3/4 cup milk
- 1 1/2 cups cooked vegetables
- 3 cups cut-up cooked turkey or chicken
- 2 cups Bisquick
- 3/4 cup milk
- 1/2 cup cranberry sauce

Heat oven to 450°. In saucepan heat soup and 3/4 cup milk, stirring frequently. Stir in vegetables and turkey; heat through. Combine Bisquick and 3/4 cup milk. Stir with fork to a soft dough. Gently smooth dough into a ball on floured cloth-covered board. Knead 8 to 10 times. Roll into rectangle, 12 x 9 inches; spread with cranberry sauce. Roll up dough, beginning at wide side; cut into 1-inch slices. Pour soup mixture into 3-quart casserole or 13x9x2-inch pan. Place slices cut side down on hot soup mixture. Bake about 20 minutes or until Cranberry Whirls are golden brown. 6 to 8 servings.

CRANBERRY CUBE SALAD

- 1 package (3 ounces) fruit-flavored gelatin
- 1 1/2 cups boiling water
- 1 cup cranberry sauce, cut into cubes
- 1/3 cup chopped celery
- 1 can (8 3/4 ounces) pineapple tidbits, drained
- 1 1/2 teaspoons lemon juice
- 1/2 teaspoon grated lemon peel
- Mayonnaise

Dissolve gelatin in water. Chill until slightly thickened. Fold in remaining ingredients except mayonnaise. Chill until set. Serve with mayonnaise. 6 servings.

DR. RICHMOND at DRUG SEMINAR

Dr. Cortland E. Richmond of Agawam was among 150 Mass. optometrists who attended a 1 day ed. seminar on modern day drugs and their effect on the eyes, held Wed. Nov. 20, at the Sheraton-Yankee Drummer Inn, Auburn, Mass.

Principal lecturers were Prof. Robert A. Walsh, Mass. College of Pharmacy, who discussed drugs - systemic and ocular effects and Dr. Harold I. Silverman, also of the College faculty, who delivered a paper on contact lens solutions and over-the-counter prescriptions.

The seminar was sponsored by the Postgrad. Ed. Comm. of the Mass. Soc. of Optometrists.

CANDIDATES' REPORTS OVERDUE

Secretary of State John F. X. Davoren issued a warning today to all candidates in the Nov. 5 election who have not submitted to his public records division reports on their campaign receipts and expenditures to do so at once.

"Under Chap. 55, Sec. 16 of the General Laws," he cautioned, "all elected committees, all candidates and all non-elected committees who worked on behalf of candidates or who favored or opposed questions that appeared on the ballot, must file a report within fourteen days of the election."

Since the deadline has passed, Davoren said a check revealed many candidates and committees had not filed. Those candidates and committees whose receipts and expenditures were under $50 have until Dec. 5 to file their report.

"The law gives me no other choice but to report the names of delinquents to the office of the attorney general," he said, adding,

"The original intent of the law, which has now been on the books for some time, was to give the public an opportunity to know how much money was being spent by candidates and committees and it would seem to be in the public interest to have these disclosures made," he concluded.

New Emergency Patrol on Pike

Chairman John T. Driscoll of the Mass. Turnpike Authority announced that a new Emergency Service Patrol is in operation 24 hrs. a day on the complete 135 mile length of the Mass. Turnpike from the N.Y. border to downtown Boston.

Driscoll said, "You are never alone on the Mass. Pike!" and added that the safety of the travelers is the primary concern of all Mass. Pike personnel, and they will render whatever service possible to motorists in trouble.

He stated that the new Emergency Service Patrol is in addition to the 24 hrs. Mass. Pike State Police Patrol and the Maintenance Weather Patrol on the Mass. Pike.

All Mass. Pike State Police cruisers and many Mass. Pike vehicles carry spare gasoline to get the patron to the nearest service area.

Chairman Driscoll said, "Any Massachusetts Turnpike vehicle equipped with a two-way radio will contact help for a motorist in trouble, telling if possible, what type of help is needed (tow, gas, water, etc.) and the location of the disabled vehicle. If radio contact is made, a green tag will be hung on the door of the disabled car, signaling other passing Turnpike vehicles that help has been summoned. This green tag will be used by radio equipped vehicles only. Others, not so equipped, will report the disabled cars location at the nearest Mass. Pike interchange, service area or Mass. Pike state police barracks.

This new Emergency Service Patrol will work in cooperation with Cap. Michael E. Faherty, C.O. of the Mass. Pike State Police Patrol.

TODAY'S AGRI-FACT: Celery is one of the more glamorous members of the parsley family. The best quality is fresh, crisp and clean; of medium length, thickness and solidity, with good heart formation and branches that are brittle enough to snap easily. Avoid celery that has formed a large seed stem -- a solid, somewhat round stem -- replacing the desirable, typical heart formation. Otherwise the celery may have a somewhat bitter flavor. Celery is especially useful around Thanksgiving time in stuffings, as a table delicacy, plain and in salads, and also as flavoring in soups and stews.

A PROBLEM

Mrs. Simpson became very evasive when asked her age. However, she did admit that six years ago she was four times older than her daughter, while today she is three times as old as her daughter. How old is Mrs. Simpson today?

Answer

54 years old. Explanation—Subtract 6 from the product of 6 and 4 for the daughter's age today; multiply this result by 3 for Mrs. Simpson's age.

Good Business

A farmer, paying his first visit to the seashore, asked a boatman if he could buy some of the water to take home to show his wife.

The boatman assented and charged the farmer a quarter. A few hours later the visitor returned to the shore. By now the tide has gone out and the man gazed open mouthed at the spectacle.

"By gosh, mister," he said, "you've done a good business today."

PUT OUT THE FIRE!

You don't need a fire or a flame to get all the hot water you can use.
